Bettyann Holtzmann Kevles is currently teaching History at Yale University. She is the author of Naked To The Bone: Medical Imaging In The Twentieth Century and articles and chapters in Oxford and Cambridge Histories of Medicine as well as in Le Seuil, which will appear in France later in 2013. A native New Yorker, she lived in Pasadena for 30 years where she taught at the Art Center College of Design and wrote regularly for the Los Angeles Times. Her most recent book, Almost Heaven, is about the history of women in the space program, including the work of physician-astronauts and the use of ultra-sound in orbit.
